PART FIVE

Part Five - Save Like Crazy

Today's lesson is a timely topic, as we are all thinking about how to get our expenses down, better manage our finances, and prepare for economic instabilities. More than ever, we need to find a way to save like crazy.

I know it sounds simple, but I keep coming back to this: to hit our financial goals, we need to earn more than we spend and invest the excess to get ourselves on track for retirement or the life we want.

Since you've done the financial reality check exercise, you know how much you need per month for your expenses, how much is coming in each month, and how much you have left over. Refer back to your spreadsheet and add up your required monthly expenses. One way to figure out how much income you need to make to get ahead is to simply double that number - so if your required monthly expenses are $3,000, your goal should be $6,000 in take-home income (after taxes, etc.), if you are following the 50/25/25 model.

The main goal when saving is to minimize your monthly required expenses as much as possible so you can use a portion of your income for savings and debt reduction to set yourself up for financial success in the future.

Whether it's the 50/25/25 rule, 80/10/10, or something more specific to you and your lifestyle we'll walk you through how to find the right savings model that works for your situation.

Part Five Instructions

The Win Make Give “Wealth Series 2.0” is designed to be sequential, meaning it builds over each lesson. This lesson takes you back to the financial reality check, where we visited our expenses and designated them as required and optional. Now, we’ll look to figure out what we can eliminate from our expenses so that we can save more!

Highlighter Exercise: This is step two of the highlighter exercise, where we add colors green, yellow, and red. Make sure you commit to doing this every month. (Instructions are on the next page.)

Saving Models: Saving money is a lot like losing weight. If you pick a diet and stick to it, most of the time, it will work. It’s the same with saving money. We propose two lifestyle changes for your financial health: the 50/25/25 and the 80/10/10 models. They both work great, but if the math doesn’t add up for you then come up with your own – even if its a 95/5 or a 99/1. Just do the math, find a model that works, and stick to it.

Lastly, we need to implement some saving strategies and make some sacrifices. Try to make this a challenge a competition, but don’t forget to have fun. The goal is to create some new habits but not eliminate living a good life. Reward yourself from time to time. You will need to complete the exercises in Part Two to get the most out of this session. Please gather all your bank statements, credit card statements, and cash receipts. Grab a few highlighters and enjoy Part Five of the Wealth Series.

THE HIGHLIGHTER EXERCISE (DO THIS MONTHLY):

Print out all of your credit card and bank statements with line item details. Highlight required expenses in green, optional expenses in yellow, and expenses that you can get rid of immediately in red - then take action! See if you can renegotiate yellow expenses (like your cable bill) or cancel them.

10 Ways to Save Like a Pro

1. Pay yourself first.
2. Make a budget and stick to it.
3. Revisit your bills every month to see where you can cut spending.
4. Consolidate and eliminate debt monthly.
5. Pay attention to the little things that add up.
6. Take full advantage of employer and government options.
7. Stop collecting things and start selling them.
8. Eat in instead of dining out.
9. Save bonuses, tax refunds, and gifts.
10. Master the “30-Day Rule” (wait 30 days to decide on a big purchase).

Brainstorm where you will find immediate expense savings below:

Save Like Crazy - Reflection

1. How much can you currently afford to save/invest/pay off each month?

2. Is that enough to hit your goals (buy a house, pay off debt, plan for retirement)?

3. If not, what can you do to change that right away?

DISCUSSION QUESTIONS

Where are we spending money that we can stop right away?

What services do we pay for that we could live without for awhile?
